District Court to Open Next Monday

Light Docket Is Almost Certain for Term

The August term of the District Court will open next Monday morning at 9:00 o'clock at the court house. District Judge Henry S. Bishop will open the court, and will immediately charge the grand Jury. District Attorney Edward W. Thomerson will direct the work of the grand jury.

Indications are that the work for the term will be light this session, as few cases are on the docket. The results of investigation on the part of the grand jury will probably be a determining factor in the length of the term.

SCHOLASTIC APPORTIONMENT WILL BE $16 FOR YEAR

Reduction from $17.50 to $16.00 was ordered Tuesday by the State Board of Education in the state scholastic apportionment. Shortage of money in the school fund made necessary the reduction in the apportionment.

Childress Pastor Talks Tuesday at Rotary Luncheon

Rev. Garland Shell, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Childress, made an inspirational talk at Rotary Tuesday on the subject, "Where do we go from here?" He pointed out the fact that so many people are needing encouragement today, more than anything else. The best way to get out of the depression is to consider that these will be normal times for at least ten years, roll up our sleeves and go to work. Conditions will then improve.

Most people think that the other fellow has the easy job, and that our difficulties are unsurmountable. The great need now is to move on—not in fear, but in faith, and the best way out is through work. There is no disgrace in failure, but there is disgrace in staying down.

The greatest untruth is the old saying that "everything comes to him who waits." Waiting never gained anything for any person.

The speaker expressed great confidence in the future of the youth of America. There is a seriousness now on the part of the youth which was lacking in the past. This depression is testing the good that there is in human nature. It will be tragic if America does not come out of the depression better than we were. We need to face the future with confidence. The world has been money conscious; now we need to be God conscious.

W. A. Warren discussed the relation as the seller to the buyer. He called attention to the fact that every business and professional man was a seller, either of merchandise or of service. He praised the citizenship of Canyon, as being above the average, and the plane of conduct was exceedingly high. However, when profit is taken out of business, the propelling powers have been removed. The motto of every business man should be, quality merchandise at a fair price and a fair profit. President Oscar Gano called a club assembly to meet at his office tonight at 8 o'clock.

W. A. Warren was elected a member of the executive committee to take the place of Bill Pike, who has resigned from the club.

Visitors Tuesday were: M. L. Mudd and H. G. Pearson of Amarillo, and Clarence J. Bishop of Dallas.

UNDERGOES OPERATION.

George Mayfield, the young son of Mrs. Berl E. Mayfield of this city, underwent an operation at St. Anthony's hospital in Amarillo Tuesday. He is reported to be resting satisfactorily.

R. B. REDFEARN DIES THURSDAY AT HOME HERE

Moved To Canyon in 1893 And Opened Store Here

One of the most colorful careers of the Panhandle came to a close Thursday, July 21, with the death of Richard Barrett Redfearn, 83, affectionately known to his many friends as "Uncle Rich," who died at the home of his son, J. M. Redfearn, 1005 Fourth Avenue, following an illness of several months duration.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. E. Jameson, pastor of the Methodist Church of this city, at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, at the Redfearn home. Masonic services, presided over by Oscar Gano, were held at Dreamland cemetery in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. Honors of the order were impressively given, using the evergreen branch which is symbolic of the thought that the members would always keep fresh the memory of their brother. The large floral offering was a silent tribute to the pioneer who established a home here and worked for the development of the country.

Pall bearers were: Ed Gerald, Louis Foster, Dan Sanders, Oscar Gano, Lee Foster and Bill Black.

"Uncle Rich" was born in Anson County, North Carolina, February 2, 1849. He spent his boyhood on a farm in the same county and when he reached manhood he taught school at White Store, N. C. His parents were Mr. and Mrs. Berry Redfearn of Anson County.

While still a young man he heard the "Call of the West" and decided to move to Texas, settling in Titus and then in Delta counties, where he taught school and later engaged in the mercantile

Annual Meeting With All Presidents August 8th, 9th

Regents of the State Teachers Colleges of Texas and all of the presidents of the seven teachers colleges will meet in Canyon August 8th and 9th. The meeting will be for the purpose of going over the business affairs of all of the colleges and making plans for the coming year's work. President J. A. Hill states that an effort is being made to induce all of the board members to be present, as full plans will be completed at that time for the museum building.

It is planned to have the plans ready to advertise for bids on August 8th, with a view of lettering the contract on Aug. 20th. This will allow ten days to close all of the details of the contract, in order to hold the appropriation of $25,000, which will expire on Sept. 1st, should the contract not be closed and in the hands of the State Comptroller of Public Accounts.

L. F. Sheffy and Dr. Hill were in Pampa Monday conferring with T. D. Hobart, president of the Panhandle - Plains Historical Society regarding progress made in the money raising campaign for the museum. Mr. Sheffy reports that a number of pledges have not been paid, and that it is urgently necessary for the money to be paid to him at once. All money must be paid over to the Society before the contract is let, as the State Board of Control will take charge of expending the money when construction starts.

Mr. Sheffy states that great interest is being shown by contractors in the erection of the building. He is expecting a very close bid on the building, as materials and labor are cheaper than ever before. Local laborers have expressed a very great interest in the building, volunteering to give 10 percent of their wage when the construction started. Also many persons have expressed a desire to give a few days labor, as this will help greatly in financing the building.

Stanfield Wins by 14 Votes for State Representative Race

In one of the closest races ever counted in the Panhandle, H. K. Stanfield of Amarillo defeated Clyde W. Warwick of Canyon as State Representative of the 123rd district. With 14,190 votes cast last Saturday, Stanfield won with 7,102, or a lead of 14 votes.

The official count of the district next Saturday will be of interest, as the lead could be increased or decreased when the tabulation is made in the six counties by the county executive committees.

The following was the unofficial report for the district:

| | Warwick | Stanfield |
|---|---|---|
| Randall | 1242 | 781 |
| Potter | 3770 | 3731 |
| Deaf Smith | 873 | 676 |
| Oldham | 155 | 375 |
| Carson | 626 | 1006 |
| Armstrong | 422 | 533 |
| Total | 7088 | 7102 |

During the tabulation both of the candidates lead at various times, but never with more than 300 to his credit. The final box to be reported was Wayside, in Armstrong county, which cut Stanfield's lead down to 14 votes.

Few Changes in Court House—Three Local Run Offs

Approximately 2125 votes were cast in Randall county Saturday in the Democratic primary, breaking all records for the number of votes cast.

So far as local races were concerned, few changes will be made in the court house for the coming two years.

Mrs. Berl Edwards Mayfield, county clerk, and Miss Olive Schramm were re-elected. Judge S. B. Orton, County Judge, won over two opponents, while Burney Slack, tax assessor, and J. D. Barker, county attorney, had no opponents.

Sheriff John Fry was not a candidate for re-election, and of the five candidates for this office, Bob Barnett and Ben Loudder headed the ticket to go into the second primary.

D. E. Covington, county commissioner, was defeated for a place in the second primary, with G. B. Heath and W. T. Hazlewood heading the list of five candidates.

J. L. Prichard defeated B. Witherspoon for justice of the peace in precinct No. 1.

J. J. Bauer, county commissioner, won over two opponents, and W. E. Bennett, county commissioner, won his race. W. M. Hess, county commissioner, and W. H. Neal will be in the run-off for precinct No. 2.

A spirited race developed for constable when friends of Shorty McCormick wrote his name on the ticket, throwing him in the second primary with Henry Campbell.

Mrs. Ferguson led the primary in Texas, with Governor Sterling in second place. Tom Hunter ran a good third.

Attorney General Allred won over two opponents.

Comptroller Geo. Sheppard, Supt. Chas. Shaver, Commissioner of Agriculture J. T. McDonald, all won easily.

Judge A. B. Martin won his

Fifty Cars Wheat Likely Be Amount Shipped From City

Canyon will not ship more than 50 cars of wheat this year, stated Felix Neff, local grain dealer, yesterday. Wheat is coming slowly to the local market, owing to the snort crop. There were 200 cars of wheat shipped last year.

The price remains low, with little chance of improvement so long as the fight continues between the Farm Board and the Chicago Board of Trade, stated Mr. Neff.

STATE TAX RATE IS REDUCED TO 69 CENTS

The State Automatic Tax Board set the state tax rate for this year at 69 cents on the $100 valuation. This is a reduction of 5 cents on the $100 valuation, and in compliance with a law passed by the last session of the legislature which limits the tax rate to 69 cents.

Two Rains This Week Benefit All Growing Crops

Rain Friday amounting to .25 of an inch and another Tuesday of .62 of an inch was of great benefit to the growing crops of the county.

Farmers state that the row crops which were clean are doing fine, and have not suffered by the continued hot and dry weather. However, the weeds have been growing very fast since the heavy rains of June, and in some places have almost taken the row crops. Farmers are hoping that more rain will fall during the coming few days.

Special Course for Conference Students

Eleven Programs Show Cultural Values In Many Fields

Dr. Harris M. Cook, supervisor of Practice Teaching in the High school department of the College Demonstration School is giving the students of his conference section a very special course of training this summer.

Eleven programs showing the cultural values and influences of as many fields of learning have been planned, with a specialist to speak for each field.

The series was begun with Miss M. Moss Richardson speaking on the "Influence of Literature in the Teachers Background." She was followed by Miss Mary E. Hudspeth, who, out of her rich experience, talked on Languages in the teachers background.

Miss Darthula Walker, who has traveled extensively, told the group of the influence of Travel and Geography on the life of the teacher, and Miss Ima Barlow showed the contribution which a knowledge of History would make to the life of the teacher.

Miss Mary Morgan Brown told of the enrichment of life through a knowledge of Drama, and Mr. Wallace R. Clark followed with a discussion of the place of music in the teacher's life, while Miss Pauline Brigham, head of the piano department will tell of the place of instrumental music in the teacher's life-scheme.

Miss Miltia Hill, acting head of the Art department will address the group on the Value of a Knowledge of Art. Miss Anna I. Hibbets will speak of the enrichment that comes from nature study and Dr. Pierle will follow the next week with a discussion of the contribution of a knowledge of science to daily living.

Dr. R. P. Jarrett, dean of the College will close the series with an address on the Significance of Research in the life of the teacher.

Dr. Cook states that his purpose in arranging this series of lectures was to increase the appreciation of teachers for fields outside the one in which each has specialized, and to point them to means of broadening their own education and culture and thus making themselves more valuable to the children who are taught by them, and at the same time greatly increase their pleasure in living.

The lectures have been much enjoyed, and a number of visitors have attended the conference sessions which come each week at 3:30 in Room 302 of the Administration Building.

THE JULY PRIMARY.

One of the largest votes the Panhandle has ever cast came last Saturday in the July Democratic primary. For weeks it looked as though no particular interest was being taken by the voters, and that the vote would be light. Few were talking, and what they were saying in most instances was a demand for a change in the administration. However, scanning the reports of various counties, a majority of the present local officials were returned to office. The campaign of hate against the present officials proved in most instances to be a personal grudge against individual officers.

So far as this section was concerned, the campaign for Representative of the 123rd district created the most excitement, both as to intensity of the last ten days' campaign, and the tabulation of the returns, when first one candidate, and then the other would assume the lead; but never was there a time when either had a command of the situation which proved at all secure. With 14,190 votes cast, Mr. Stanfield leads by only 14. The lead for neither candidate had gone stronger than 300 during the entire tabulation.

As one of the candidates, the Newsman is very grateful for the vote of Randall county, which came without solicitation. Not more than a dozen cards were handed to the voters of this county, and few friends were even enrolled in the campaign. We believed that the residence of 22 years in Canyon meant more than any campaign which might be made here, for tomorrow will mark the ending of 22 years, busy and happy ones, spent in Randall county.

The only regret of the campaign was the harsh personalities which entered into the campaign, and that the writer had to oppose the son-in-law of the best friend that he ever had. Our idea of a campaign was the discussion of facts, records and platforms. Personalities, and little foolish sidelines should be discarded in a political campaign. But this campaign came nearer reverting to the old style blood and thunder of years ago, when blackening the reputation of the office holder was considered the proper thing. Even Jim Ferguson did not indulge in those tactics this year.

Incidentally, a candidate's friends are sometimes his worst enemies. Seeking to shield him from unpleasant things being said against him, they do him a great injustice by not telling him the truth. Folks, if you have a friend in any campaign, tell him the truth. He must know what is being said against him in order to hedge off the campaign of misrepresentations and untruths. A candidate's friends are always optomistic, and usually underestimate the ability of his opponent, and laugh at his tactics. But they usually wake up to regret that they were not working instead of laughing. Never try to deceive your candidate friend by telling him only the good things. He should know the bad things, as they are more important in any campaign. This is written without the least feeling of resentment or criticism, as every candidate will tell you, this is the gospel truth.

But the campaign is over. There is a great amount of work to be done. Texas is on the rocks, financially, and care must be taken by all our people to carefully guide the ship of state through the shoals. Throwing rocks at the skipper, or razzing the crew may detract their attention at just the wrong time, so that the ship will hit the rocks. Don't be too harsh with those who hold office. Most all are trying to do their dead level best to make the best of the present bad situation, and need the hearty co-operation of every good, loyal citizen, rather than the brickbats of their enemies.

The usual Ferguson lead was piled up Saturday. It was surprising to see the vote received by Tom Hunter, an unknown political character of little ability. There is no question now that if Senator Clint C. Small had made the race, he would have nosed Sterling and Hunter out and would have been elected in the second primary over Ferguson. But political trends cannot always be well anticipated a few months before the primary. The question now before Texas, is, will irresponsible government, conducted by proxy, be returned to power in the state. Texas has had one inning of Jim Ferguson, and he was impeached. Texas had another inning with Mrs. Ferguson, and saw Jim Ferguson as the real governor turn the prisoners out, and dissipate the highway funds until the federal government withdrew aid. If Texas wishes another reign of Fergusonism, there is something radically wrong with the thinking of the people.

A teacher of government recently told members of his class never to run for office, owing to the personal abuse attached with the campaign. The advice was good, but the reason would condemn the Democratic principal of a primary. When honest men with solid characters, and men who have made a study of governmental affairs are precluded from offering for office on account of the abuse to which they are subjected, it does not sound well for this great democracy of ours.

In how many instances did you vote your prejudice Saturday, rather than your conviction that the one you were supporting would make the best official? An Amarillo business man told of an instance in which he supported a man to whom he had not spoken for several years, following personal differences, but he voted for the man because he thought he was capable of making the best officer. That's real democracy.

Those newspapers who have opposed Senator Clint C. Small, stating that he was an anti-prohibitionist, were badly mistaken in his attitude. The writer has heard him several times proclaim his faith in prohibition, and even against the repeal of the 18th amendment. Newspapers, of all people, should be fair, if they wish their officials to be fair.

Since America has built the high tariff wall, virtually cutting off foreign trade, and shutting down industries in this country, European nations are following the same practice against each other. A little brotherly love and forbearance toward each other, and toward all nations will go a long way toward ending this unfortunate depression.

Jim Ferguson is complaining that his Forum is not making any money. Yet Uncle Sam claims that he made just $148,612 during the past three years, and that Jim owes him a big income tax. There is one thing sure about Uncle Sam's business—don't monkey with your income tax report unless you want to get into trouble.

Adding more elective offices to the long list of places may sound like good campaign thunder, but all those who went to the polls Saturday expressed a most sincere desire to have the number of elective offices reduced, especially those for state offices, rather than increase the number.

This Hoover prosperity continues, in spite of the fact that the President assured the people two years ago that the depression would continue for only a few weeks, it is still here, and going stronger than ever. We shall see a change in the White House following the November election.

The second primary will be held August 27th. The ticket will be short for this primary, with only three local races involved, and only six state offices. The voters will be thankful that they are not confronted with the long ballot as was the case in the July primary.

Charlie Dawes' bank in Chicago was given a governmental loan of eighty million dollars. No wonder the ex-service men cannot understand why they could not get some of Uncle Sam's money.

The weeds and the Johnson grass have not been stopped in their growth by the hot, dry weather. Now is a good time to cut them, before they seed.

The heat wave this summer has been terrific. Just like some of the politics floating around.

The supreme test is when the June bride asks her husband the first time for the price of a hair cut.

The pioneers may have had their troubles, but they never had to mow grass with a dull lawn mower.

Glacier Party Leaves—headline. Sounds like the breaking up of a bridge game.

SUSIE'S Musings

It is pleasant sometimes to sit down and write hap-hazardly with no purpose in view. It relieves the mind of all those petty little ideas that flutter around like birds trying to get out of a cage. Poor, helpless little things. Not worth much to humanity but very important to themselves.

• • •

Perhaps it is in such idle moments that great thoughts are born. It is said that no one knows his own true worth, and I suppose that it might be said, as well, that no one knows his own true depth. A mind is a queer thing. It goes deep when we least expect it, and when we need it most it runs into shallows laughing back at us with sun glints in its smile as it ripples over the clean white pebbles.

• • •

If there is anything worse than poverty of the purse, it is poverty of the mind—and more embarrassing. What is that freak twist of nerves that makes us dumb and speechless when we want to appear brilliant, our tongues flying with witty "bon mots." It may be inexplicable to any but the psychologists, but it is certainly irritating to the rest of us.

• • •

We, all of us, I suppose, have our dreams in which we do something, it may be anything from detecting a criminal to flying a kite, just a little better than our fellow man; dreams, in which we disclose ourselves to be just a little above the average. Most of us aspire, at least in our dreams, to shock and surprise the other fellow, to gain his admiration and his respect. It is one of our inherent characteristics, this desire for fame and glory. Some of us fight for it, some of us merely dream of it. If we can transform these dreams into stern realities, then our fame is achieved, if not, we are, well,—even as you and I.

TO THE VOTERS OF RANDALL COUNTY:

I take this means of expressing to you my sincere appreciation of the vote which I received in last Saturday's election as candidate for Sheriff and Tax Collector. It is with deep appreciation that I accept this public expression of confidence which the people of this county have given me.

During the coming few weeks I shall make an attempt to visit with every voter in the county in asking for support in the August primary. I realize that it will be almost impossible to see everyone in the short length of time that remains.

I shall appreciate the work of any of my friends in a continuance of the support given me in the first primary. I am now asking for the consideration of my candidacy by every voter in this county.

GREEN WHEAT AND HAIL

By Wayne Griffitts

Stooped men wander slowly
Scanning dust swept fields
That lie bare for two days
Of a black-bird's flight.

In slow afternoon they stand
Remembering spring's green foam
That flooded low hills with
Rustling-sun-dappled windways.

White pigeons soared up wind
Against green hail-clouds and
With wings slapping settled
Like rain-rattle on the roof.

While trees toss heavy shadows
Bent women lie under the moon
Listening for old love songs
The wind hums in mellow grain.

THREE LITTLE GIRLS

By Peggy Caldwell

Three little girls are coming to meet me,
Down the highway running to greet me—
Faces aglow in the morning sun,
Hair streaming wildly as they run
With sturdy legs, bare and suntanned,
That slow to a walk as they trudge through sand;
Friendly brown arms are tightened around me,
Laughter and gay talk seem to surround me. . . .
One day of discouragement could not defeat me
When three little girls come running to meet me.

Mrs. Jack Murphy visited last week with Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Sasser of Clovis.

W. I. Gamewell returned yesterday from a business trip to Andrews county.

Hay! Hay!

Sniffle, sniffle, sniffle, on the frosty air of morn,
Sneeze, sneeze, sneeze, as on an elfin horn.
You catch it when you're sitting down,
You catch it when you're walking 'round
You catch it here, you catch it there,
You seem to catch it everywhere.
You're never safe in the rain;
You're never safe in a train—
Life is just a bed of thorns to me,
For this hay-fever isn't what it ought to be.—A Sniffler.

IN APPRECIATION

If you did not vote for me and have anything in which I can be of assistance as commissioner, do not hesitate to call on me and I will give you the same assistance that I would if you had voted for me, as long as my term of office lasts. ## Be Pleasantly Informal This Summer

PAJAMAS, EXCELLENT ON THE BEACH OR IN THE KITCHEN, ARE CONSTANTLY AVAILABLE IN NEW, GAY STYLES

BY HARRIET

WHETHER you use your pajamas for loafing along the beach, or dancing when the moon comes up, there are new styles coming along almost every day As soon as a frock decides to do something different to enliven the style parade, pajamas think up another trick, too.

Pajamas are comfortable. They allow all sorts of motion Then, too, they make the wearer feel luxurious They are decidedly feminine, from the interesting necklines to the very hems of the great flapping trousers There is a gaiety and informality about pajamas that goes with a holiday mood You relax a little more, laugh a little more, and go home feeling as though you have scored a few more points than usual when you wear pajamas. Every wardrobe should contain at least one pair of them

The pair of cotton beach pajamas which are pictured here are made for loafing in the sand or playing games along the beach. The red and white stripes, which stubbornly run in a diagonal manner, instead of up and down or across, makes the suit more interesting The V-shaped neck and the wide cuffs offset the striped effect with blocks of solid color Two white buttons and a belt with the red material running through it are simple adornment features that in no way hamper your style movements.

Since the suit is not sun-backed you don't need to worry for fear your tan will leave lines that aren't going to look well under summer frocks. The red hat that accompanies the pajamas can be turned face downward when the sun is shining, and pushed up when you want to watch the boats come sailing in.

* * *

ANOTHER cotton pajama suit, which follows the two-piece pattern, splashes great golden coin dots, which are outlined in green, over a pure white background. The V-neck is high, and the yellow material that composes the upper part of the waist running down to the belt on the sides is also outlined in green. The belt runs around the back, tying in a bow on the left side.

The unusually large trousers of this suit lift upward at the hemline.

Summer Months Bring Students Flocking to Library; Used to Capacity in All Departments

More than 75,000 books pass across the borrowers desk of the library of the West Texas State Teachers College each twelve months, according to the records of the library.

Nine hundred forty six books is about the usual number for a school day. These figures do not consider all the reference books, such as encyclopedias, dictionaries and similar books which are constantly in use.

There are 19,000 books in the library, aside from the hundreds of publications which are included in the document room, this library being the United States Depository for United States Government documents in this region.

Miss Tennessee Malone, who has been head librarian since 1911, and who has carefully builded the stocks through the years, says that the library is especially well supplied with certain types of books. For instance, besides the usual Enclycopedia Britanica and the Nelson Loose-Leaf Encyclopedia, which are expected, there are on the shelves a Jewish Encyclopedia, and a Catholic Encyclopedia which give students an opportunity to read estimates of lives and events as they are seen from several widely separated viewpoints. This gives young people a chance to develop tolerant judgments, and is especially valuable to students of history and other social sciences.

Library materials are useless unless those who seek them can find them easily, and this library is equipped with excellent indexes. The Readers Guide, which lists all the contents of magazines of general interest and of some technical journals is supplemented by the Agricultural Index, the Educational Index and the Industrial Arts Index, as well as the New York times Index. With all these and the card catalogue at hand, any person who learns to use these volumes can find almost unlimited material on most any subject.

Three Hundred Ninety-Six Magazines Received

Current thought on almost every conceivable subject is reflected in the magazines which are received regularly. There are three hundred ninety-six of these, and they range from those for boys and girls and for the lonesome co-ed who wants to see the Ladies Home Journal which was always on the living room table at home to technical magazines of interest to the physicist and philosopher.

When the magazines have been superceded by new ones, they are sent to the bindery and later returned to the shelves with hundreds of others covering the years since the college was established. Bound magazines are more valuable than text books in many instances because they reflect the thought and emotion of the time when they appeared.

Best Children's Library in Region

From the beginning it has been the intention of the West Texas State Teachers College to build up a library of children's books which would be a delight to the youngsters who receive their training in the demonstration school, and at the same time be the means of preparing prospective teachers and parents to select the best books to place in their schools and homes.

Now these books are housed in a beautiful small library in the Education Building and notices and pictures call the attention of young readers to new book friends.

Both the Main Library and Children's Library contain several gift collections. In the children's library is the Robert Manning Osgood Memorial collection; a collection of books which belonged to one of Texas' foremost Latin scholars was given the library by the family of Professor B. A. Stafford, once head of the Classical Language department of the school; and nearby are several hundred volumes from the library of Reverend and Mrs. W. H. Younger, leading pioneer citizens of the Panhandle.

Rent Collection Very Up-to-date

In order to get books that are the talk of the moment, students and faculty maintain a rental collection in the library, buying a few books almost every month and choosing those whose names appear most favorably in the current reviews. To these shelves are added many gift books. The rental fee of four cents a day is considered small by eager students who want to read the latest fiction, poetry or political theory.

News in Canyon 25 Years Ago

(From the files of the Canyon City News, July 26, 1927.

Mrs. John Crawford and son, Fred, of Cordell, Okla., were guests of Mrs. U. S. Gober a few days this week leaving today for a visit to Tulia.

The Misses Curtsingers of Hereford visited with J. L. McReynolds' family during the Reunion.

Mrs. Robertson of Artesia, N. M. visited her sister, Mrs. J. H. McCartney, this week.

The Canyon City Band, originally fourteen pieces, is now reduced, by removal, to nine home members. To make up for this deficiency in numbers during the Reunion, Lubbock furnished Smylie Wilson, Hereford sent Frank Tucker and Amarillo supplied Perry Hodge, W. W. Hamilton and Harry Agard. Thus made up Canyon City maintained her well earned reputation of having the best band in the Panhandle. "A gentlemanly lot of boys" was the sentiment of all our Reunion visitors.

Jim Rogers' little boy, Lawrence, had his thigh broken yesterday, a horse stepping on him. Dr. Wilson fixed him up and he is now getting along very well.

There is an ordinance against riding or driving on, or hitching across any sidewalk in the city and yet it is being constantly violated. Somebody is going to get fined for this.

Our present postmaster, Bales E. Cobb, is to be retired on account of having reached the "age limit" and it is stated by some of our Republican friends that he will be succeeded, at no very distant date, by Oscar Hunt.

Seventy-one Confederate veterans were enrolled at the Reunion, some forty being members of the Stonewall Jackson Camp. The election of officers resulted as follows:

Commander, Capt. J. T. Bobbitt.
Second Lieut., P. L. Crawford.
Adjutant, W. F. Heller.
Ordely Serg't., J. C. Pipkin.
Quartermaster, F. M. Lester.
Chaplain, Rev. T. F. Robeson.
Secretary, J. M. Vansant.
Sponsor, Miss Teenie Thompson.
Maids of Honor—Miss E. C. Redfearn for Randall County; Miss Nina Crawford for Briscoe; Miss Sallie McGehee for Armstrong; and Miss Nannie Jowell for Deaf Smith county.

Death Foretold Grocer Is Slain

Three days after his wife, Mrs Vera Carl (top photo), had drawn three cards symbolic of death from the pack of a fortune teller, George Carl (below), Chicago grocer, was found shot to death in the rear of his store. Mrs. Carl and her brother were questioned, but the slaying remains a mystery.

STRANGER THAN FICTION

Was there ever such a complicated, unsolved mystery plot outside of the pages of a detective novel than the Lindberg tragedy and its ramifications have developed into?

The kidnapping itself was sufficiently horrifying. The discovery weeks later that the little boy had been ruthlessly murdered was one of the most gruesome shocks the American people have ever received. The subsequent disclosures of attempts to profit from the grief of the agonized parents make one wonder whether there is any such thing as honor and decency left in the world. The total failure of Federal, state and local authorities to get any tangible evidence of the identy of the criminals is almost beyond belief. Then the suicide of the servant girl in the Morrow household, who took poison rather than face another inquiry by the police, adds still another touch of mystery and tragedy to the world affair.

When the whole truth is known, if it ever becomes known the plain, unadulterated, straightforward story of the Lindberg affair will take its place with the classics of detective fiction.

Republican convention delegates cheered mildly when Lincoln's name was mentioned. Democrats may be expected to give gentle applause when somebody refers to Jefferson.

For the benefit of unmarried ladies who are prone to procrastinate, they are reminded that leap year is nearly gone.

LET'S DEFLATE HOKUM

(By Bruce Barton)

In 1865 it was proposed to John Stuart Mill that he should run for Parliament.

He answered that he was willing to do so, provided the voters understood he would not make any election speeches or put up one cent, and that, if elected, he would support such national issues as appealed to his best judgment and do nothing for the local interests of his district.

He says in his autobiography that "a well known literary man was heard to say that the Almighty Himself would have no chance of being elected on such a program."

Nevertheless, Mill's candidacy made remarkable progress, and just before the election he agreed to appear at a few meetings in orhad made the remark that the der to answer questions.

In one of his earlier books he "working classes, though differing from those of some other countries, in being ashamed of lying, are yet generally liars."

Some opponent put this on a placard and at a meeting of working men Mill was asked whether he had written and published it. He promptly answered: "I did."

What followed is so remarkable that I quote it verbatim:

"Scarcely were these two words out of my mouth when vehement applause sounded through the whole meeting. It was evident that the working people were so accustomed to expect equivocation and evasion from those who sought their suffrages, that when they found, instead of that, a direct avowal of what was likely to be disagreeable to them, instead of being affronted they concluded at once that this was a person whom they could trust.

"The first working man who spoke after the incident said that the working classes had no desire to be told of their faults; they wanted friends, not flatterers—and to this the meeting heartily responded."

It has long been my conviction that politics has not kept up with popular intelligence, that the people are sick of hokum and the politicians have not found it out.

I believe we are at a point in this country when men can be elected to office, as Mill was elected in London, by courageously telling the truth.

I admit I have not much evidence to support this conviction. But I certainly should like to see it tried out.

Safety hint: Don't try to turn a corner that isn't there.

CANNING HINTS

(Editor's Note—These recipes for canning are given by Miss Sadie Kate Bass, home demonstration agent for Randall County, and are especially seasonable for use at this time of the year. It is suggested that they be clipped and placed in your recipe cabinet for reference now and in the future.)

Chili Sauce

5 quarts skinned, chopped ripe tomatoes; 2 cups chopped sweet red pepper; 2 cups chopped green pepper; 1½ cups chopped onions; 3 tablespoons salt; 1 cup sugar; 3 cups vinegar; 1 teaspoon cloves; 1 teaspoon allspice; 1 teaspoon cinnamon.

Combine the chopped vegetables, the salt, and sugar, and simmer this mixture until it begins to thicken. Then add the vinegar and spices and cook the mixture down until it becomes a thick sauce. Pour into hot sterilized bottles or jars and seal air tight with sealing wax. This recipe yields about 3 quarts of sauce.

Dixie Relish

1 quart chopped cabbage; 1 pint chopped white onion; 1 pint chopped sweet red pepper; 1 pint chopped sweet green pepper; 3 tablespoonfuls of salt; 4 tablespoonfuls of mustard seed; 2 tablespoonfuls celery seed (crushed); 3-4 cupful of sugar; 1 quart cider vinegar.

Soak the pepper in brine (one cupful of salt to one gallon of water) for 24 hours. Freshen in clear, cold water for one or two hours. Drain well, remove seeds and coarse white sections. Chop separately, and measure the chopped cabbage, peppers and onions before mixing. Add spices, sugar and vinegar. Let stand over night covered in a crock or enameled vessel. Pack into small hot jars that have been sterilized.

When ready to pack, drain the vinegar off the relish in order that the jar may be well packed. Pack the relish in the jars, pressing it carefully; then pour over it the vinegar which was drained off. Paddle the jar thoroughly to get every bubble out, and allow the vinegar to displace all air spaces. Garnish each jar with two slender strips of red pepper. Place these strips vertically on the seams in the jar on opposite sides. Cap, clamp and process in a water bath for 23 minutes at 180 degrees F. (simmering.)

Pepper Relish

Take one dozen sweet green peppers and one dozen sweet red peppers and add three large onions, chopped fine. Cover with boiling water and let stand ten minutes, drain, cover again with hot water, and let come to a boil. Then let stand again. Drain dry and add three tablespoonfuls of salt, two pints of vinegar, and two cups of granulated sugar. Cook fifteen minutes and pack in hot jars, and process as for Dixie Relish. Seal.

I Thank You

I am truly grateful for the support of my friends who supported me in my recent campaign.

El Palo Duro

By Ray V. Davis, Custodian, Palo Duro Park.

Ol' father time for some years past
Was makin' Palo Duro,
'Way out on the Texas plain
He cut a deep, deep furrow.

Here all the ages can be seen,
An' color deep an' gorg'us,
An' time clean back to plicene
Lays right out there before us.

A quiet, peaceful sparkling stream
Winds down this rugged chasm,
Yet cuts its way to deeper soil
As time goes on to fathom.

Tho' father time has carved an' carved
Mother nature can be seen
To add her bit with flowers an' birds
An' springs, an' cedars green.

Here fleet-foot deer and buffalo herd
An' the Indian with his squaw
Have come, then gone with the pioneer
Who brought with him the law.

An' yet the change we see today
Has not the color taken,
For rainbow hues are on display
In this great Canyon's makin'.

For all these years an' all the change
Has only made more beauty,
An' cowboys ridin' on the range
Enjoyed it while on duty.

An' now we hail the passer by,
To see this gorg'us Canyon
An' ease the tired business eye,
Be nature's close companion.

DRINK YOURSELF RICH

We respectfully suggest this slogan for the wets, "Drink yourself rich." Boiled down to three words, this slogan is the argument which is being urged in high places for the restoration of intoxicating beer as a legalized drink. Millions of us haven't the price of a meal, but make beer lawful, and we will drink so much of it that the tax on it will amount to $2,000,000,000 a year. The budget will be balanced, the government difficulties will vanish and prosperity will be upon us again almost in one swallow. In other words, we shall "drink ourselves rich."—Hibbing (Minn.) Tribune.

WHAT FOLKS TALK ABOUT

Investigators classified 500 conversations overheard in public places to find out just what men and women talk about in Cleveland and New York. They found that the subjects varied little in the two cities.

Men's conversation were 48 per cent about business, 15 per cent about sports and amusements, 12 per cent about other men, these being the most frequent topics.

Conversations of women were most frequently about men, this topic showing great variation in the two cities, 22 per cent in Cleveland and 44 per cent in New York. Clothes were the subject of 20 per cent and other women 15 per cent.

In mixed company, men talked most to women about amusements, next to business and money. Women conversed with men about themselves and other women.

The above results were published in a business men's magazine, but we can not say whether they fairly represent the facts or not. At any rate, they are interesting. What do you talk about?

Former Students Win Speech Honors At Northwestern

Two former students of the Speech department here are meeting with unusual success this summer. They are Miss Winnie Mae Crawford, who received her degree in 1924 and has since received her Master's Degree from Northwestern University, and Winston O'Keefe, who was last in W. T. in 1930.

Winston O'Keefe and Winnie Mae Crawford are playing the leading roles in "Green Grow the Lilacs" which is being produced at Northwestern University this summer under the direction of the author, Lynn Riggs.

O'Keefe received a $400 prize at Northwestern this spring for the excellence of his work. He has also received much commendation upon a lecture recital called "The Cowboy." Recently he has been giving this at the Marshall Field store in Chicago where it is a feature of the sporting goods section.

Many students will remember O'Keefe who was first noticed for his fine work as an Interscholastic League declaimer, later winning a place for himself in college because of his unusual work in dramatics. His home is at Panhandle and he is a brother of Wallace and Arless O'Keefe.

Miss Crawford is now a member of the Speech department at C. I. A. Denton.

COLLEGE GOLF PRO APPOINTED BY MR. DUFLOT

JIMMIE GAMEWELL TO GIVE LESSONS TO COLLEGE STUDENTS.

Due to the demand for a golf instructor, Jimmie Gamewell has recently been appointed college pro by Prof. J. L. Duflot, manager of the college golf course.

Gamewell, who will be a sophomore this fall, has been playing golf since he was eleven years old, and during this time has won golf tournaments over the Panhandle. Twice he has made a "hole-in-one"; once at the 212 yard hole, number nine, at the Randall Municipal Course at Dallas, he made a hole in one drive; and once again at the 176 yard hole, number four, at the Tennyson Municipal Course in Dallas he made a hole in one stroke.

Since Jimmie's coming to Canyon from Dallas in June, 1930, he has placed in a number of golf tournaments over the Panhandle. His record is something as follows: In July 1930, he was runner-up in the "Indian Hills Invitation" in Amarillo; in August, 1930, he placed 12 in the "Panhandle Amateur" held in Amarillo, where 700 golfers from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Colorado entered; in May 1931, he was beaten in the semi-finals in the "West Texas Gold Association Tournament," at Lubbock; in June, 1931, he was winner of the "Dalhart Country Club's Sixth Invitation Tournament" in Dalhart; in August, 1931, he placed sixth in the "Amarillo Open," in September, 1931, he placed second in the "Wheat Belt Golf League Tournament" held in Plainview, and in July, 1932, he was beaten in the finals of the "Clarendon Invitation Tournament."

Gamewell has made the college course in 32, four below par; the Canyon Country Club in 68, four below par; and the Randall Municipal Course of Dallas in 29, six below par.

Students and townspeople desiring golf instruction may obtain lessons from Gamewell at fifty cents per lesson by calling Mr. Duflot or Jimmie Gamewell.

A good specimen of a buffalo skull in excellent preservation was found last week on the college farm.

The skull was found on a creek bank approximately eight feet below the level of the surrounding ground. Several other bones were found in the same place, but they were not in the excellent preservation of the skull.

The discoverers of the head, Arlin Hartzog, Bob Williams, and Alvin Ream, loaned the skull to the Panhandle-Plains Museum. They intend to start a collection of such relics.

A "Hard Luck" Horse in 1930, Believed Washed Up Last Year, Equipoise's Smashing Comeback Proves He Is One of Greatest Horses of All Time.

BY PHILIP MARTIN

HE was called the "hard luck" horse in 1930. In 1931 it was thought generally that his very promising racing career was over. But in 1932 he has staged a magnificent comeback to be dubbed "America's wonder horse," and to become one of the potentially great money winners of all time.

The horse in question is Equipoise, the dark chestnut four-year-old who has been setting the tracks afire this year, winning race after race with ridiculous ease.

When Equipoise, as a two-year-old, started out in his 1930 series of races, he was a much-touted horse. For several reasons. In the first place, he had superb breeding. His father, Pennant, was a champion before him, and his mother, Swinging, was the daughter of Broomstick, long one of the most successful sires in America. Training had shown that Equipoise had brilliant speed and change of pace, was tremendously strong, and liked any kind of going.

In the 1930 campaign, he had the hardest series to face of any youngster. But he performed convincingly; in 16 races, he won eight and was second in six. But here's where the hard luck part came in. He lost one of these races by getting caught in the pack and being unable to free himself, another by being left behind when the barrier was sprung, and another by a matter of inches.

All told, the races that he lost by less than a length would have made his winnings for one year almost $300,000. That would have meant that one or two victories the following year would have put him well ahead of Gallant Fox as a money winner.

The 1931 season Equipoise started off with a bang. He came out of winter quarters to run at Havre de Grace and galloped off with an overnight event.

Then things began to happen. Beaten a dozen lengths by Anchors Aweigh in the Chesapeake Stakes, Equipoise was examined by the track veterinarian, who found he had azaturea, a rare equine ailment. After a rest and another bad race, he was being groomed for the Kentucky Derby when he developed a bad infection in one of his feet. Then it was that his future became dubious.

• • •

BUT after an 11-month layoff at the Whitney Farm at Red Bank, N. J., the big colt started off the 1932 season with a sensational string of victories, the more notable of them being the Toboggan, the Metropolitan and the Arlington events. His winnings so far are well into the $200,000 bracket.

According to Fred Hopkins, his trainer, and to turf enthusiasts the country over, Equipoise is almost certain this year to shatter Sun Beau's world money winning record. And it is more than likely that Equipoise will race again as a five-year-old next season.

NEW STUDENTS ENROLLING FOR SUMMER TERM

ONE HUNDRED FORTY NEW STUDENTS ENROLLED THIS WEEK.

With the addition of 144 new students, the total enrollment for the summer session of the college is 1320 according to a check made by Travis Shaw, secretary of the college. Of this number, 1105 are college students and approximately 215 are in the Training School.

Nine hundred and fifty-nine college students attended the first term. Many students who planned on attending only the first term, re-enrolled for the second term. Sixty-nine students re-enrolled, while 144 new students enrolled. A definite count of the number of students dropping out for the second term has not been made.

Yesterday was the last day to enroll for a full course for the last six week's term. Definite count could not be made of the total number of students at press time.

Aggies Make Trip To Amarillo Grain Exchange Friday

Frank R. Phillips, head of the agriculture department of the College, took ten members of his advanced agriculture class to the Amarillo Grain Exchange and Laboratory Friday. Harry Kearns, president of the Exchange, conducted the group through the plant. They visited the place of marketing, the place where wheat is sorted into samples and sent to the laboratory, and then where the test is made for protein.

This was reported to have been the most interesting of such trips made this summer. Mr. Phillips is working on other trips to be made before the close of the summer session.

NOT FIRST BONUS DRIVE.

The world war soldiers who have encamped about Washington may have an idea that they are the only soldiers who took this step to gain what they wanted from the government. Way back in 1786, so history relates, there was what was known as "Shay's rebellion." The revolutionary war had left the soldiers without funds, a depression was on and added to the general hard times, a tax had been levied that was held out of all reason. War veterans of Massachusetts rebelled against conditions and demanded that something be done about it. Alexander Hamilton declared that a dictator was what was needed. George Washington was appealed to, and the country became pretty much stirred up. Washington declined to meddle and he was utterly opposed to the idea of a dictator. Washington saw the government was hard hit by the after effects of the war and the treasury was all but bankrupt. Taxes had to be levied. The new government was sore pressed and some way had to be found out of the difficulty. The soldiers demanded that the government issue a large quantity of paper money, reduce the taxes and give general relief and marched on Springfield with a threat against the supreme court then in session. But Washington did not use his influence to back up the demand. The rebellion was put down, Shays fled, but was afterwards pardoned. An other uprising came after the civil war, but the country was in no shape to grant the wishes of the soldiers and the affair ended in a promise of a speedy pension act. So the bonus marhers are by no means the first to demand relief when hard times follow in the wake of war. Washington, gazing into the future, "as far as the human eye can see," saw the peril of the government his soldiers had fought to bring about, and said: "Influence is not government. Let us have a government by which our lives, liberties and properties will be secure," and that wise decision should be the watch word today. We can make or break our country just as we see fit.—Higgins News.

Panhandle Makes History with Paving

One of the greatest regional high way programs in the history of Texas and a super road building record probably unsurpassed by any similar area in the United States during the past five years —that is the story of the Panhandle's highways since 1927.

The program, expected to be completed by the end of 1933, represents an expenditure of approximately $12,000,000 and the paving of 1,062 miles of highways in the upper 20 Panhandle counties. The extensive network of surfaced roads will represent 88.17 per cent of the 1,227 miles of state highways in the Panhandle district.

According to figures furnished by W. J. Van London, state highway department engineer in charge of construction for the Amarillo district, every county in the region has before it comprehensive paving projects. Two hundred eighty-five miles have been paved and projects now being paved total 143 miles. Sixty-five miles of grading are completed or under construction preparatory to paving; 290 miles are already financed, and nearly 300 additional miles are conditionally financed through offers of the Texas Highway Commission.

The total estimated cost of contracts contemplated and financed for the completion of the extensive program aggregate $4,035,000, bringing the all-time paving cost in the district to nearly $12,000,000.

Prior to 1927, according to State Highway Department research, only 52 miles of pavement had been laid in the Panhandle and was entirely within the boundaries of Potter County. One hundred forty-four miles had been financed at that time in Carson and Randall Counties. Other counties had no road building programs before them and several had heavy traffic over roads that had not been officially designated as state highways.

Added impetus was given road building enthusiasm during the past few years when county after county voted paving bonds by overwhelming majorities. More recently, generous offers on the part of the highway commission in which roads are to be constructed and surfaced at state expense with the counties furnishing right-of-way on approved location fulfilled the hopes of highway boosters and assured the completion of the unpaved gaps, especially on State Highway 5 and U. S. 66.

Armstrong and Donley Counties have received offers from the commission for the paving of Highway 5 at state expense, thus practically assuring the paving of the highway from Amarillo to Galveston, the longest continuous stretch of paving in the state. The only unpaved gaps are those of Armstrong and Donley.

During the five-year period 127 additionally designated miles, including 45 conditionally designated at present, have been added to the state highway system in this district. By relocation and redesignation because of the paving program more than 60 miles have been cut from the total mileage between various cities.

In connection with the reduction of the mileage through relocation, railroad grade crossings have been eliminated. Since January 1, 1927, of 17 crossings, nine have been eliminated by relocation and eight by overpasses and underpasses. Proposed eliminations to be completed by 1935 include 16 by relocation and six by overpasses and underpasses.

"Except in cities there will be only six grade crossings when the present program is completed," Mr. Van London said. "The remaining ones will be on branch line railroads or secondary highways. All crossings, however, are being made so as to permit construction of grade separations when increase in railroad or highway traffic require it."

Following is a brief summary of highway building from 1920 to July 1, 1932. These figures include only paving in which the state participated.

1920 to 1925: Fifty-two miles partly paved at an average cost of $28,000 per mile. Total cost was $1,400,000.

1925 to 1926: Eighteen miles were single surface treated at an average cost of $3,400 per mile. Total cost was $61,200.

1927 to 1930: Total construction was $2,700,000.

1930 to date: Total construction completed and under contract is $3,700,000.

Contracts contemplated and financed for immediate construction reveal a total estimated cost of $4,035,000. Three hundred eighty miles are to be hard surfaced at an average cost of $10,600 per mile.

Projects for each of 19 Panhandle counties on July 1, 1932, stand as follows:

DALLAM: Total mileage, 110; financed, 78.

St. Lawrence Waterway to Make Inland Cities "Atlantic Seaports"

This map of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway, which will permit ocean vessels to transport their cargoes to inland Great Lakes ports, shows the route such vessels will take when the project is completed.

PROGRESS on the $800,000,000 St. Lawrence waterway, which will in effect make middle western states parts of the Atlantic seaboard and will yield an amount of power half that now being used in this country, will make rapid headway, now that the treaty providing for action on the project has been signed by the United States and Canada.

Since early American history the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes have provided a waterway between the Atlantic and the heart of America. Indians in canoes, then fur traders and finally, aided by canals, large vessels, traveled between the sea and the Great Lakes. In recent years a campaign has been waged by middle western states to deepen, improve and open canals to enable inbound ocean steamers to deliver their cargoes to Great Lakes ports.

New York state, and especially the metropolis, has opposed the plan since it would divert trade from New York City. Likewise, some opposition appeared in Montreal, which has been a transfer point for cargoes shipped from the Great Lakes, business that would be lost if ocean ships could reach the inland ports.

• • •

THE waterway proposal, briefly, is that a 27-foot (deep) channel shall be opened from the heads of navigation on the Great Lakes through to the Atlantic. For past navigation improvement, most of the necessary work to perfect the new waterway has already been completed.

Thus, if an ocean boat, inbound, would enter the mouth of the St. Lawrence with Cleveland or Chicago as its destination, it would have plain sailing as far as Montreal, because there a 30-foot channel, being deepened to 35 feet by the Canadian government, already exists. Above Montreal, however, the Lachine Rapids canal, nine miles in length, presents a difficulty. This canal is only 14 feet deep, not enough for any standard ocean vessel. It will, however, be deepened under the new plan.

Above Lachine the deep waters of Lake St. Louis permit the boat to continue to Beauharnois, where the Dominion government is working on a combined power and navigation plan which will yield 2,000,000 horse-power and provide a 27-foot channel. After Beauharnois there is clear sailing through Lake St. Francis for 26 miles to the beginning of the 48-mile stretch of the International Rapids. Here, in the space beginning at the Long Sault Rapids and ending near Ogdensburg, N. Y., the river drops 92 feet, providing tremendous potential water power. It is this narrow parcel of water that has been the bone of national and international contention.

In the International Rapids stretch, sufficient electric power will be developed so that, divided equally between the province of Ontario and New York state, the latter will have 6,000,000,000 kilowatt hours a year, nearly half the amount it used in 1929.

The two dams provided for in the new treaty, one of which is located at the lower end of Barnhart Island, the other at Galops Island, will back up many miles of water and raise the river's level. Canals and dredging operations will provide the necessary 27-foot channel.

After the ship passes this section, it nears the Thousand Islands, where U. S. engineers are completing a 27-foot channel 67 miles long which will open the way into Lake Ontario's deep waters. At the further end of Lake Ontario, the Welland Canal, around the Niagara Falls and of sufficient depth, already exists, providing entrance into deep Lake Erie.

The next obstacle is the shallowness of Detroit and St. Clair Rivers, which are already being dredged. The way would now be open to Chicago. Assuming the ship's destination is Port Arthur or Duluth, there is a final difficulty in the shallow St. Mary's River and Sault Ste. Marie (Soo) Canal. These, too, are being dredged by American engineers. Leaving the Soo, the steamer completes its trip, without interruption, to Duluth, halfway across the continent.

Of the entire distance from the mouth of the St. Lawrence to Duluth, all but 286 miles is already open. And of this stretch, the only sizable engineering task is that to be carried out in the International Rapids section. But it is estimated that completion of the entire waterway project will take approximately 10 years.

Another Lyre Solo

Mrs. Lula Walker, State Vice-president spoke on a few important matters. One of these is the Literary Digest poll. This plan, she said, originated with the wine-producers of France, who, seeing that their sales had fallen off greatly because of Prohibition in the United States, hit upon this method to weaken respect for our law and the Constitution of which it is a part. They have paid thousands of dollars to The Literary Digest to put this across.—Cortland (N. Y.) Standard.
